

It would be better to have a system to store each change,
with a description of what changed, when, and by whom

First structure
2022-03-15 16:30
By Alex

Adding ERPscope activity
2022-03-15 16:45
By Alex

Adding activity on Adjective Mandarin
2022-03-16 8:30
By Max

Correcting stupid mistakes in last activity
2022-03-17 14:43
By Max

What is a git repository?

- ➔ A git repository allows you to track the changes made to your files in a given folder and create a history of all your changes.
- ➔ It is actually a hidden folder (hence the name git repository), usually `'.git/'`, that is itself included in the folder to track.
- ➔ The local git repository is different from your actual files (called the working directory). It interacts with them though.

